READING

Read the article about what makes good art and choose A, B, C, or D.

What makes good art?

If you're a fan of art like I am, but often wondered how to tell a good painting from an average one, then help is at hand. Four experts tell us how to separate out the best art from the rest.

Expert A

For me, it's when art has its own internal logic and you just know it when you see it. It is unique in conception and well-executed. I didn't come to this realization overnight, however. It comes with experience and developing your eye, training it. While art has become, in the experimental 20th and 21st centuries, impossible to define – critics learnt long ago to stop being prescriptive, perhaps a little too well. Good visual art looks stunningly right and, in retrospect, obvious, or inevitable, yet it's also continually surprising. It is a powerful paradox. How can someone have possibly made this? How in the world could it not have been made?

Expert B

Reality is by agreement. The reality of art is usually by some kind of agreement. The arbiters are the museums, the museum curators, the people who spend their lives and their time actually being critical of what they see and judging what they see. If you add in four or five art critics who are then able to write about it, if you get four or five major collectors who are passionate about what they collect to patronize it, and several major auction houses to auction it, then a consensus or vetting process begins to unfold. Of course there's magic dust involved, so this is not a sure way, but it's a safe way to go about judging what is good art. It's hard to answer the question 'What makes good art?' without stating something that appears pretentious. The perception of what makes art 'good' revolves around the application of that difficult word 'taste' which I observe to be in considerably short supply in society today.

Expert C

Quality, quality, quality. This is the mysterious and subjective key to good art. In all periods of art there are good and bad works of art. I find that defining quality in representational art is easier than in modern and abstract art. The other key word is looking. Everything looks good when you first start looking at art, as you have nothing to compare it to. As you hone your eye, you begin to discriminate between good and bad. The more you look at art, the easier it is to determine what is good and what is bad.

Also, there are two schools of thought as to what's good and bad. Some people believe that good and bad are personal distinctions and entirely in the eye of the viewer. Others believe that there is good art and terrible art and no one can tell them otherwise. I think the real answer is somewhere in-between, and this is based entirely on the quality of the eye of the viewer.

Expert D

At its most fundamental level, good art is an effective combination of concept, vision, and mastery of medium (the ability to get the point across). Good art is also uncompromisingly honest, unselfconscious, bold, ambitious, enlightening, original, challenging, and a feast for the senses. It doesn't necessarily have to have all of these qualities, but at the very least it has to keep you coming back for more...and never ever bore. What makes art good is when you see a piece from across the room, you immediately fall in love with it without knowing anything about it and are in love with it forever.

Which expert:

- 1 acknowledges the difficulty of defining art in a simple way. _____
- 2 believes that art may appeal to more than just an individual's sight. _____
- 3 feels that the peculiarities of a piece constitute its superiority. _____
- 4 believes that style and good judgment are lacking among the general public. _____
- 5 likens the emotion involved in discovering a piece of good art to experiencing feelings of tenderness. _____
- 6 believes the ability to distinguish between inferior and superior art comes with practice. _____
- 7 states that art, by its very nature, is a contradiction in terms. _____
- 8 believes that commenting on a piece of art is not necessarily as simple as some experts would have us believe. _____
- 9 points out that an appreciation of art is not a solitary affair. _____
- 10 acknowledges the limitations of characterizing art in modern times. _____
